71-76 sorularda, verilen durumda söylenebilecek ifadeyi bulunuz.

71. A friend of yours has had an accident, and his car is badly smashed up. He's very upset about it. So, to cheer him up, you say:

- A) I don't suppose they can fix it at all.
- B) What a pity, the car is so badly smashed!
- C) I've often warned you to be very careful when driving.
- D) It will cost you a fortune to get it repaired.
- E) Never mind the car. You're alright and that's what matters.

72. A colleague has got into the habit of using your computer without even asking if he may. You are annoyed at this and indicate it by saying:

- A) Whenever you need a computer you can always borrow mine.
- B) Of course I don't mind you using my computer whenever you want to.
- C) Before using my computer, at least ask me whether I'll be needing it myself.
- D) Would you mind if I borrow your computer next week?
- E) Thank goodness we have a computer to help us get through this work.

73. You have been invited to join a team of experts to work on a specific space project. You are thrilled and phone your brother to share the news. You say:

- A) The space project I mentioned the other day has been abandoned.
- B) Guess what! There's a space project under way, and I'm on the team!
- C) There's a space project coming up; should I apply?
- D) I can't tell you how pleased I am to be leaving the project.
- E) I don't think it's all that important to be part of a research team.

74. A close relative of yours has undergone surgery. For several days she has been kept in the intensive care unit and everyone has been very worried about her. When the doctor finally assures you that her condition really is improving, you say with relief:

- A) That's wonderful news! I'll go and tell the others straight away.
- B) I'm afraid this is not what we expected.
- C) We all know this would happen.
- D) But obviously it's too soon for anyone to be sure.
- E) I do think you could have let us know earlier.

75. On arrival at the airport you learn that your flight is delayed for at least two hours. On hearing this from the airline official, you can't help showing your frustration and you say to him, in a sarcastic way:

- A) Then, I'd like to reserve, if possible, a seat for the next week.
- B) The weather's bad; it's hardly surprising.
- C) Where can I go and get a drink to pass the time?
- D) Is this the "on-time" service you always advertise?
- E) Never mind, that will give me time to choose a book.

76. You are being sent to an overseas branch of the company. For family reasons you know this will be difficult for you, but with your future career in mind you accept the posting, but reluctantly. So you say to the company manager:

- A) You must realise that the post does not appeal to me at all. Send someone else.
- B) I'm delighted you've chosen me for the job.
- C) If I've got to go, I will go. But it won't be easy either for me or my family.
- D) I'm sure my family will be pleased when I tell them where we're going.
- E) You must be out of your mind to even think of sending me.

77. Frank: I hear you're moving.

Alec: Yes, but not for a while yet, unfortunately.

Frank: ____

Alec: The house needs a lot of repairs.

- A) It should be lovely there. I envy you.
- B) Why is that? What's the problem?
- C) Actually I don't care for that part of the country.
- D) How sensible of you. You would have been badly in debt.
- E) Never mind! I'm sure you'll be able to find something more suitable.

78. Alice: Have you got used to your new job yet?

Michael: ____

Alice: Why do you say that?

Michael: Well, there have been a few problems.

- A) Fine. And the pay is far better than I expected.
- B) What were you saying when I arrived?
- C) Yes. Very easily, thanks.
- D) Yes, and I'm enjoying it.
- E) More or less.

79. Paul: What's in the post today?

Secretary: ____

Paul: Oh! What's it about?

Secretary: They are asking you to give a lecture at the end of the month.

- A) There are several letters from various organisations.
- B) There's a letter from the Physics Department of Edinburgh University.
- C) Nothing at all of interest; just leaflets.
- D) There's an invoice from the booksellers.
- E) A number of documents, one of which is a report.

80. Polly: How about a weekend in Antalya?

Brian: Fine. Shall we go on our own or ask Lynn and David to join us?

Polly: ____

Brian: Let's go on our own, then.

- A) Just as you like.
- B) Why not?
- C) We ought to ask Lynn and David.
- D) That's a good idea.
- E) I've already asked them.

81. Patient: The pain in my stomach still hasn't gone away.

Doctor: ____

Patient: Well, I did for a day or two. But it didn't seem to help.

Doctor: If you'd done as I'd said then, you'd be feeling a lot better now.

- A) It will, in time, don't worry.
- B) In that case I'll give you some more medicine.
- C) Have you been taking the medicine as I prescribed?
- D) How long has this been going on?
- E) I should have come to see you earlier.

82. Pam: Have you heard about the Waltons? Their house was broken into and a lot of things were stolen.

Molly: Yes, and it looks as if they aren't covered by their insurance policy.

Pam: ____

Molly: So they thought. But apparently they didn't have the kind of lock they required by the insurance company.

- A) There are a lot of burglaries where they live.
- B) Well, then it serves them right!
- C) I can't believe it.
- D) Really! But I'm sure they said they were properly insured.
- E) The insurance company has been very helpful.

83-85 soruları, aşağıdaki parçaya göre cevaplayınız.

Society is, regrettably, less interested in the individual than in the position which he occupies. One almost never asks a person "Who are you?", but one constantly asks "What do you do?". For one reason or another, people are assorted into various categories which determine the roles they are to play in society. This assorting process, called social differentiation, goes on in all societies. Women as a class have a status distinct from that of men, and children have a status unlike that of adults.

83. The constant use of the question, "What do you do?" _____ .

- A) shows that for women, work is of minor importance
- B) suggests that the working day receives a large part of our attention
- C) is disliked by working women
- D) suggests that people give more importance to position than to personality
- E) implies that we live in a very materialistic world

84. In the passage the term "social differentiation" means the process by which _____ .

- A) women alone are put into a special category
- B) an individual is assigned his role in society
- C) children are given the same status as that of adults
- D) the individual comes to acquire a new role in society
- E) the personality is analysed

85. The passage is largely concerned with _____ .

- A) the status and the role people have in society
- B) the conflict of the various groups in society
- C) women's problems in a male-centred society
- D) the generation gap between adults and children
- E) the importance of the question "Who are you?"

86-88 soruları, aşağıdaki parçaya göre cevaplayınız.

Mercury has a number of interesting properties and a variety of industrial uses. It expands at a constant rate through the range of temperatures at which it is a liquid. Because of this property and because it does not cling to glass, mercury is often used in thermometers. At ordinary temperatures it evaporates very slowly and can thus be left in an open container for long periods of time. For this reason it is used in one type of barometer. Mercury is a good electrical conductor and is used in sealed electrical switches. An electric current passing through mercury vapour causes it to give off light, hence its use in certain kinds of lamps.

86. In the passage, it is pointed out that mercury _____ .

- A) never ceases to be a liquid
- B) is used primarily in the making of barometers
- C) is of limited use since it is a poor conductor of electricity
- D) has certain special qualities that make it a very useful substance
- E) has certain unpleasant characteristics

87. Mercury is often used in thermometers _____ .

- A) because it never turns into a solid
- B) since, so long as it is a liquid, it expands at a constant rate
- C) as it is unaffected by temperature change
- D) since it is attracted to glass
- E) even though it shows a tendency to evaporate slowly even in an enclosed space.

88. Mercury vapour will give off light _____ .

- A) when an electric current is passed through it
- B) if left to evaporate slowly
- C) but no use has been found for this property
- D) so it is a good conductor of electricity
- E) and is commonly used to light up electrical switches

89-91 soruları, aşağıdaki parçaya göre cevaplayınız.

Protoplasm, which is the fundamental basis of life, is constantly undergoing physical and chemical change. Life, therefore, is the resultant of these constantly occurring changes. There are two great groups into which living things may be classed: plants and animals. Both the plant and the animal kingdoms are very extensive. It is customary, therefore, to regard the science of life under two comprehensive heads, namely, botany which is the study of plants, and zoology which is the study of animals. Both subjects are subdivided into various specialised sections.

89. It is pointed out in the passage that life is the outcome of _____ .

- A) the interaction between plants and animals
- B) change from a physical to a chemical state of being
- C) physical change taking place in the animal world
- D) the constant change, both physical and chemical, occurring in protoplasm
- E) constant transformations in the plant world

90. It is understood from the passage that the science of botany _____ .

- A) is less specialised than that of zoology
- B) deals with a limited number of plants
- C) is concerned with the plant world
- D) is a subsection of zoology
- E) fundamentally concentrates on the study of protoplasm

91. The author points out that the study of living things, although carried out under various specialised headings, _____ .

- A) emphasises the importance of genre and species
- B) depends upon extensive field research
- C) is mainly related to zoology
- D) takes physical rather than chemical changes into consideration
- E) actually involves two basic fields of science

92-94 soruları, aşağıdaki parçaya göre cevaplayınız.

Many observers, including policy makers, mistakenly assume that economic competition between nations must result in winners and losers. It has been demonstrated, however, that international trade increases the wealth of all participants, even those with lower productivity than their trading partners. The real issue, it appears, is the way international competition affects all kinds of goods that any country produces. It seems that the proper role of government is to ensure that its people are prepared to compete in those industries in which they could or should have an advantage.

92. According to the passage, economic competition _____ .

- A) does not affect industrial activity
- B) only benefits the richer nations
- C) should be regulated at an international level
- D) is beneficial to everybody involved
- E) may lead to lower productivity

93. The author suggests that nations should compete _____ .

- A) to improve their balance of payments
- B) in line with the principles of international law
- C) with nations of parallel economic standing
- D) with those whose industrial production is the highest
- E) in those industries in which they have an advantage

94. The author emphasises the idea that international trade _____ .

- A) is not one nation's gain and another's loss
- B) should be the major concern of all developing countries
- C) does great damage to those countries with lower productivity
- D) should not be the concern of policy makers
- E) has lost its momentum in recent years due to economic recession

95-97 soruları, aşağıdaki parçaya göre cevaplayınız.

Those who visit the Mediterranean are invariably impressed with its unity. Everywhere it is the same, for the shades of difference here is less important than the resemblances. Yet this unity is the result of aggressive contrast; sea and mountain, sea and desert, sea and ocean! In these respects the Mediterranean is very different from either central Europe, or high tablelands of Asia, the Syrian and Saharan deserts, or even the Atlantic Ocean.

95. What distinguishes the Mediterranean from the other parts of the world is ____ .

- A) that it is characterised by high tablelands
- B) the fact that the landscape varies greatly from part to part
- C) that it is surrounded by vast deserts
- D) the combination of features, everywhere, is the same
- E) that it is attracting more and more visitors

96. According to the passage, within the general unity of the Mediterranean ____ .

- A) the deserts of Syria and the Sahara have their special place
- B) the contrast between the sea and the desert is exceptional
- C) one is also aware of startling contrast
- D) some people find a depressing monotony
- E) there is very little that appeals to the eye

97. It is stressed in the passage that the Mediterranean ____ .

- A) extensively resembles the rest of the world
- B) is, in many ways, similar to central Europe
- C) has an endless changing coastline
- D) is the most crowded part of the world
- E) makes the same impression on all visitors to the area

98-100 soruları, aşağıdaki parçaya göre cevaplayınız.

It is the opinion of most archaeologists that civilisation first developed in the Middle East, where, of all the regions in the world, natural conditions offered the greatest assistance to man in his changeover from a life of nomadic wandering as a hunter to settled occupation of the soil. The regular rise of the three larger rivers, Nile Euphrates, and the Tigris; annual renewal of soil fertility by the deposition of a layer of silt; and the generally warm climate, favourable both to the growth of a rich plant-life, and to the activities of man himself, were all special inducements to the adoption of a way of life based on agriculture.

98. According to the passage, one of the striking features of the three great rivers of the Middle East, is that ____ .

- A) they provide cheap transport
- B) they contribute to soil fertility
- C) there is little annual change in the water
- D) they all run through extensive forest lands
- E) they are depositing less and less silt each year

99. The passage is concerned with ____ .

- A) how man first began to benefit from the rivers
- B) the geological features of the Middle East
- C) the circumstances which contributed to the rise of civilisation in the Middle East
- D) the rich plant life that existed in the Middle East in prehistoric times
- E) a comparison of the nomadic and agricultural way of life

100. Before man took to a way of life based on agriculture ____ .

- A) he had already settled near the Nile and the Euphrates
- B) he led a nomadic existence and lived by hunting
- C) warm climates did not attract him
- D) the natural conditions of the world were of supreme importance to him
- E) he avoided the Middle East entirely
